January 18

Painting A Portrait

with John Taft and Cherie Nobilette

Two painters will discuss how painting became the center of their lives and the forms it has taken. Following their discussions, they will each paint a portrait of a live model.

January 25

Theater

with Robert and Kim Bubon

The owners of the California Actors Theatre in Longmont will explain how one actually 'puts up' a theatrical production, concluding with a partial performance of the current California Actors Theatre production.

February 1

Chamber Music

with Bronwyn Fraser

Observe professional musicians rehearse the Mozart Quintet for clarinet and strings. The performers will discuss the musical piece and how they approach "problems" in different sections of the music.

February 8

Pianist, Conductor, Teacher

with Robert Spillman

For many years Robert Spillman was the opera and music director at the Aspen Music Festival and School. Also active as an accompanist and coach, he has seen the world of music from every view.

February 15

The World Of Poetry

with Colorado's Poet Laureate David Mason

Professor Mason teaches at Colorado College in Colorado Springs. He will discuss the life of a poet, the view it offers, and will also perform poetry of his choice.

February 22

A Life Of Song

with Berton Coffin Professor of Voice Julie Simson

An outstanding mezzo soprano and sought after teacher and coach, Julie Simson will have just finished performing the role of Marcellina in The Marriage of Figaro with Opera Colorado.
